

What to pack:

I. Clothing & Personal Comfort

✓ Lightweight, neutral-coloured clothing (4 sets)

Bring khaki, olive, or brown tones to blend into the natural environment. Light fabrics for daytime heat; durable enough for walking through bush.

✓ Long-sleeve shirts

Protects against sun, thorns, and insects. Useful in both warm and cooler weather.

✓ Hunting pants / long trousers

Preferably rip-stop or sturdy material to handle bushveld or grassland terrain.

✓ Warm layers

Early mornings and evenings can be cold, especially in the Highveld winter. Pack: fleece pullovers, warm jackets, thermal tops.

✓ Comfortable, broken-in boots

Avoid bringing brand-new boots. Choose ankle-supporting, non-slip hiking or hunting boots.

✓ Socks (multiple pairs)

Thick, breathable socks prevent blisters on longer walks.

✓ Hat or cap

Essential for sun protection.

2. Personal Essentials

✓ Sunscreen & lip balm

The African sun is strong, even in winter.

✓ Insect repellent

Especially important in Lowveld or bushveld areas.

✓ Basic toiletries

Toothbrush, toothpaste, shampoo, personal medication, deodorant, etc.

✓ Personal first-aid items

Blister plasters, headache tablets, antihistamines, or personal prescriptions.

What to pack:

3. Optics & Field Gear

✓ Binoculars

Very helpful for spotting game in grasslands, bushveld, or open plains.

✓ Headlamp or small flashlight

For early mornings or moving around camp after dark.

✓ Backpack or daypack

Carry water, snacks, sunscreen, and small personal items during the hunt.

✓ Reusable water bottle

Stay hydrated, especially in hot regions.

✓ Camera or phone for photos

Pack a protective case dust-resistant.

4. Practical Extras

✓ Power adapter

South Africa uses Type M and N plugs.

✓ Snacks you personally enjoy

Some guests prefer familiar energy bars on long hunting days.

5. Seasonal Notes

Winter (May–August)

Pack warm layers, gloves, and a beanie.

Mornings can be very cold, especially in the Highveld.

Summer (October–March)

Lightweight clothing, hydration packs, and strong sunscreen are essential.

Expect hot days and possible afternoon thunderstorms.
